ANOTHER BIG-NAME SIGNING FOR GRAMPIAN FASTENERS

Leading North East fastener distributor, Grampian Fasteners, is today celebrating landing an 18 month contract worth £130,000 per year with Subsea 7, one of the world's leading subsea engineering and construction companies, for the provision of industrial fasteners* for its UK operations.

This contract award comes following other recent wins for Grampian Fasteners with leading oil and gas companies such as Halliburton, Aker Solutions and Weatherford.

The company, which is based in Dyce, Aberdeen, hopes that these recent contract wins will help it meet its objective of increasing its customer base of 1,100 customers and £2.2million turnover enjoyed in the last financial year.

Commenting on the announcement, Gary Henderson, Managing Director of Grampian Fasteners said:

“Fasteners can appear relatively insignificant when working on multi-million oil and gas projects but we understand that our clients are looking for value and good service in all aspects of their operations and I am confident that our focus on the timely delivery of safe and quality products at a competitive price will ensure the sustained growth of our business”

Layne Meres, Procurement Specialist at Subsea 7 said:

“Grampian Fasteners were able to demonstrate a commitment to delivering us with a competitive and value adding service and we look forward to working with them.

*Industrial fasteners include fixings such as bolts, screws, nuts and washers.
